PETA Beauty Without Bunnies

The rabbit logo on all of Attitude®'s personal care and household products proves that they're cruelty-free and vegan. We believe pampering ourselves should never mean punishing another living being. The PETA Beauty Without Bunnies certification shows that our products were not tested on animals and that they're free from animal-based ingredients.

100% Hypoallergenic products

All our products are developed using ingredients with little or no allergens as defined by the European Commission's (less than 0.01 percent by weight). Our ingredients are dermatologically tested in independent labs to ensure that they're hypoallergenic and non-irritating. They pass the Human Repeat Insult Patch Test (HRIPT) and are as gentle as possible on sensitive skin.

What is EWG?

Environmental Working Group is a US-based organization that has created a database, called Skin Deep®, listing over 80,000 personal care products and providing an overview of more than 150,000 chemical ingredients, classified according to toxicity and regulatory status. The standards established by EWG help consumers make better choices and support our mission to use only worry-free ingredients in our products.

ECOLOGO® Certified products

The ECOLOGO® Certification is part of Attitude®'s commitment to a reduced environmental impact. The seal indicates our household and personal care products have undergone rigorous scientific testing and/or exhaustive auditing to comply with stringent third-party environmental performance standards. These standards cover a range of criteria including materials, energy, manufacturing and operations, health and environment, product performance and use, and product stewardship and innovation.

What is the purpose of ECOCERT® certification?

ECOCERT® is a respected body of certification and inspection originating in Europe 25 years ago. Its subsidiary in Quebec, ECOCERT® Canada, provides certification guaranteeing that our products meet and exceed their very strict standards. From the beginning to the end of the manufacturing process, ECOCERT® consistently ensures the respect and preservation of the environment and your well-being.

The main objectives of ECOCERT® are:

- › To prioritize ingredients from certified organic agriculture above all others
- › To ensure complete transparency in communicating accurate information to the consumer via direct and honest means
- › To inspire manufacturers to improve the quality of their ingredients and their products ensuring safety and security with their formulas

By winning the confidence of professionals and consumers, ECOCERT® has become a benchmark in organic certification worldwide.

The essentials

- › Environmentally friendly production and processing processes respecting human health.
- › Development of the concept of green chemicals
- › Responsible use of natural resources
- › Respect of biodiversity
- › Absence of petrochemical ingredients (except for authorized preservatives): parabens, phenoxyethanol, perfumes and synthetic colorants
- › Absence of GMO's
- › Recyclable packaging

95% to 100% of the ingredients of the total product must be of natural origin (with water and mineral or mineral-based ingredients considered as natural).

10% minimum of the ingredients of the total product must be organic (with water and mineral or mineral-based ingredients considered as non-organic because they are not derived from a life form).

95% to 100% of the plant-based ingredients must be organic.

The Cosmebio label also guarantees the absence of some controversial ingredients, such as silicones, phenoxyethanol and parabens.

The guarantees provided by the Cosmebio label cover each step in the lifecycle of cosmetics, including:

- › The origin of the raw materials, to promote ethical and sustainable sourcing
- › Gentle and nonpolluting processing methods
- › Production of the final product (a clean formula, storage, packaging)
- › Transparent labelling and responsible communication
